

David Golden, MD FAAAAI

Speaker Biography

Dr. Golden is an Associate Professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University. He trained in medicine at McGill University and in Allergy-Immunology at Johns Hopkins where he led a research program on insect sting anaphylaxis for 30 years. He established a teaching allergy group practice from which he is retired. He continues to contribute as a member of the AAAAI/ACAAI Joint Task Force on Practice Parameters, and in chapters, reviews, editorial boards, and invited lectures.